The "Happy Family."

Gov. Vance is getting along badly with his new allies, the Destructives, and we are strongly persuaded they will bring out a "[illegible]" candidate before the middle of June. The "originals" [illegible] the Governor [illegible] "Standard [illegible] paper," and between all these [illegible] have rather an indifferent time. The Wilmington Journal and State Journal give about [illegible] him, while the Confederate only damns him with faint praise. The fact is Gov. Vance cannot hold the Conservative party in one hand and the Destructives, his original companions, in the other; the Conservatives he has lost beyond redemption, and if he will not now take the Destructives to his bosom he will find himself without a party. We copy the following from the Charlotte Carolina Times, to show that if His Excellency does not look sharp he will soon be left out in the cold:

Out Boreal.—The annexed, which we copy from the Raleigh Progress, whose remarks generally and follows the extract from the Conservative, Gov. Vance's organ, is no doubt one of the most [illegible] unjust and unwarrantable paragraphs that could have been penned.

It is unwise because it is calculated to drive off thousands who did intend to support Gov. Vance, and who, by absenting themselves from the polls on the day of election, may thereby contribute to the vote which will be cast for W. W. Holden.

The remarks of the Conservative are unjust because the language used in reference to what it denominates "originals" (the true State Rights men of the country,) is disgusting.

The strictures of the Conservative are unwarrantable because they represent that many good and true men of the country are wanting in principle and patriotism, upon the ground that (without admitting disabilities and legal exemptions) they are not upon the tented field.

We are not disposed to encourage, directly or indirectly, any movement, act or sentiment that would (choosing between Gov. Vance and W. W. Holden) give encouragement and support to the latter, by withholding influence which may be favorable to the [illegible]

We [illegible] to our friend of the Conservative that the repetition or publication of similar articles to the one now under review may prove very damaging to Gov. Vance in the coming election.

There can be rallied in the State at least fifty thousand votes whose voice at the ballot box may disregard the honor and [illegible] of those who manage to denounce good and true men simply because not having heretofore voted for Gov. Vance, they may enter the lists in his favor in preference to W. W. Holden. We hope Gov. Vance does not endorse the sentiments expressed in the extract we copied from the Conservative?

The "Happy Family."—The "Coach Journal" of Governor Vance, in its attempts to win back Conservatives to the support of his Excellency, is rather severe on the new allies of the Governor. The Conservative [illegible]

"But if Mr. McRae or Mr. Avery expects his willingness to support the Conservative Governor, we are not to surrender the [illegible] or allow him any place of importance! If the [illegible] of a paper, whose [illegible] made itself merry—we will not say ridiculous—by criticising the personal appearance of Governor Vance two years ago, now pronounce him a "[illegible] man," although he has trodden no step backward in the interval, Conservatives are not to quote this as additional evidence in behalf of their "model Governor!" That these gentlemen can now support a man with the principles of Gov. Vance, is some evidence of a return to reason. It is true that some "originals" [illegible] as a great deal by their forwardness. Village and crossroad politicians, who have worn out the seats of many breeches during this war in sustaining the administration of Mr. Davis under the shades of elms, are now taking Gov. Vance also under their [illegible] patronage.—Something no doubt must be pardoned them. They have talked so much during the war, that they cannot help it, and not being broken winded from double-quicking, or other military exercises, their lungs and windpipes are in good keeping."

That's right, neighbor; tell the "originals," the leaders and the [illegible] leaders generally that they are vile sinners, and must repent or be d—— turned out in the cold.

"While the lamp holds out to burn,
The vilest sinner may return."

Daily Prayer Meeting.—THE CAUSE AND THE GREAT REVIVAL.—A Prayer Meeting will be held at the Methodist Church in this city, daily, at 5 o'clock, P. M. All Christians and the public are respectfully invited. Come promptly. Don't wait for the bell—no bell will be rung.

We are authorized to announce Capt. T. W. RITTER, as a candidate for re-election to the House of Commons from the county of Moore. Captain Ritter is a Conservative "after the straitest sect."
May 6 d3w2t*

To the People of North-Carolina.--In compliance with the wishes of many friends, I announce myself a candidate for the office of Governor of North-Carolina, at the election to be held on the first Thursday in August next.

My principles and views, as a Conservative "after the straitest sect," are well known to the people of the State. These principles and views are what they have been.—They will not be changed.

I am not disposed, at a time like this, to invite the people from their employments, and add to the excitement which prevails in the public mind, by haranguing them for their votes. We need all our energies to meet the common enemy, and to provide means of subsistence for our troops in the field and the people at home. Let the people go calmly and firmly to the polls and vote for the men of their choice. I will cheerfully abide their decision, whatever it may be.

If elected I will do every thing in my power to promote the interests, the honor and the glory of North-Carolina, and to secure an honorable peace.

March 8 td W. W. HOLDEN.

Hillsboro' Recorder, Salem Press, Greensborough Patriot, and Henderson Times will please copy till day of election, and forward accounts.

We are authorized to announce Lieut. E. H. RAY, of the 47th N. C. Regiment, for the office of Sheriff of Wake County, at the ensuing election in August next. April 21-d&wtd.

DAILY PROGRESS.

RALEIGH, N. C.

TUESDAY, MAY 10, 1864.

[illegible]

The Government [illegible] dollar notes to [illegible] longer be taken [illegible] take them at a discount of one-third, just what [illegible] for them by [illegible] Depository [illegible] tains for refusing to place a higher [illegible] on currency than it is held at by its own financial agents. The whole blame, therefore, of the depreciation of the fives is with the Government and not with the people. Persons sending to us by mail will be credited for two-thirds their face and no more, and no bills due the office can hereafter be paid in fives save at such discount.

The War in Virginia.

Much anxiety was manifested in this city during Sunday and Sunday night on account of the silence of the telegraph, but yesterday morning it was somewhat relieved by an official dispatch from Gen. Lee, dated May 8th, stating that Gen. Gordon turned the enemy's extreme right on Saturday evening and drove him from his rifle pits, capturing two Generals (Seymour and Shaler) and other prisoners, as well as a number of small arms, &c. The enemy had abandoned Germana ford road and removed his pontoon bridges to Ely's ford. The enemy made no attack on Sunday; we maintained our position, and nothing beyond slight skirmishing occurred. The same dispatch also informs us that one of the enemy's gunboats was attacked, disabled, boarded and burned on Saturday near Chaffin's bluff, but two iron-clads bearing down on the party, they retired. Chaffin's bluff is below Drewry's Bluff and above City Point.

Beyond the above we have but little at this writing, (Monday morning.) We know that the line of the road between Weldon and Petersburg was broken on Saturday, and that fighting occurred between Petersburg and Richmond on that day, but as to the [illegible] to the road, whether [illegible] by the enemy, and if so at what point, [illegible] we are anxious to [illegible]. The fighting in Gen. Lee's front, so far, and the situation at last accounts, is all we could expect or wish, but as to the operations this side of Richmond, since Saturday, we know nothing.

Owing to [illegible] in the road, or some other cause, we have no [illegible] from Richmond or Petersburg since Saturday morning, but the following particulars of operations below Richmond and near Petersburg are taken from the Express of Saturday:

Yesterday (Friday) was another day of rumors—wild, [illegible] and [illegible]—but not of excitement, for the people had recovered from the shock which came so suddenly upon them Thursday. They had seen the preparations which our efficient and gallant General, commanding this department, had made, and felt conscious that under his sleepless vigilance and skillful management, Petersburg would never fall into the hands of the foe.

There were evident signs at an early hour that the enemy was largely reinforcing at Bermuda Hundreds, as transport after transport could be seen ascending the river from the heights of the vicinity of City Point. A gentleman connected with our Home Guard Cavalry, arrived about 11 o'clock, and informed us that the transports commenced arriving at early dawn, and up to 9 o'clock, one hundred and twenty-one, including the arrivals of Thursday afternoon, had been counted. At first thought, this number appears to be one of great magnitude, and capable of transporting an army of forty thousand men. But when it is recollected that all of the vessels do not carry troops, but that many of them are necessarily filled with horses, artillery, ammunition, pontoon boats, quartermaster and commissary stores, it may be safely concluded, that the enemy's forces now at Bermuda Hundreds, do not exceed, if they number as many as 20,000. All [illegible] from the river, represent the scene at the junction of the James and Appomattox rivers, as one of rare and unusual interest. So large a flotilla of steamers, barges, sailing vessels, and gunboats, was never before witnessed in that section. As one who saw it expressed himself to us, the wide expanse of waters there is literally covered with floating craft.

The principal rumor yesterday, and the one which seemed to excite most [illegible] in our community, was, that the enemy had greatly increased his force at City Point during Thursday night, and was marching towards Petersburg by the county road, slowly but steadily. This was soon ascertained to be incorrect. A gentleman who left his farm three miles this side of City Point at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, informs us that the enemy had made no advance of any consequence up to that hour, and that his pickets and videttes [illegible] only two miles from the Point. Our informant is a gentleman of most excellent judgment, and no little experience, and his opinion is, after closely observing the movements of the enemy, that they have no intention of advancing upon Petersburg from the Point. It is evident that they have only occupied that locality to prevent us from placing a battery there, and also to veil their movements at Bermuda Hundreds. The main operations are on the Chesterfield side of the river.

The various reports about the destruction of buildings at [illegible], the burning of all the houses at Port Walthall, and the destruction of Mrs. Mary Dunn's mill, near by, are believed to be without foundation. Heavy columns of smoke were seen in the direction of the foregoing localities yesterday, but we ascertained last night from scouts who had been in the immediate neighborhood, that the woods were on fire, and are supposed to have been fired by the enemy, but whether designedly or by accident, is not known.

Another rumor which gained much credence [illegible] was not the slightest foundation in truth for this report. Fort Clifton is still held by Confederate [illegible] likely to be [illegible].

At the [illegible] of the telegraph wires [illegible] Swift Creek Bridge [illegible] all of [illegible] times during the day, at short intervals, ever, [illegible] and nothing else. At one o'clock last night, the wires were working admirably, Swift Creek Bridge was intact, and the [illegible] repaired.

SHARP FIGHT AT PORT WALTHALL JUNCTION.

A sharp fight occurred at Port Walthall Junction, yesterday afternoon, commencing [illegible] and concluding at 6 o'clock, which resulted in a decided repulse of the enemy. Port Walthall Junction is on the railroad, five miles from Petersburg, and two from Swift Creek Bridge. At 5 o'clock, two Brigades of the enemy, which moved out from Bermuda Hundreds, some time during Thursday night, and were slowly and cautiously advancing during the day yesterday, attempted to cross the field of Mrs. Dewlett's farm, immediately at the Junction, but were met with a deadly fire from six hundred of the 21st and 25th South Carolina Volunteers, commanded by Colonel Graham. Three times the enemy essayed to reach the railroad, coming with a yell, but was met [illegible] by such [illegible], and [illegible] by such [illegible], and [illegible] with a steady fire, [illegible] them to recoil and [illegible] from the bloody [illegible]. They finally retreated in [illegible] and retired about a mile and a half distant, in the direction of Port Walthall landing. The disparity of numbers was too great for us to pursue, but a gentleman present informs us that he never witnessed more gallant conduct on the part of any troops than was displayed by the intrepid South Carolinians.

The enemy had artillery, but used it with poor effect. Our casualties were [illegible] killed and twenty three wounded. We had no artillery.

The object of the enemy in this movement was evidently to tear up the railroad and burn the bridge over Swift Creek. They will probably be heavily reinforced, and renew the attempt to-day, but we shall be better prepared for them, and they will not fare so well as they did yesterday. They lost heavily yesterday, but carried off their killed and wounded.

We regret that we are unable to publish the names of our killed and wounded to-day. An Ambulance Committee, under the superintendence of our townsman, Mr. Reuben Ragland, went out last night, and will bring them in in the morning.

REPULSE OF THE ENEMY ON THE BLACKWATER.

A body of Yankee Cavalry, under the command of the notorious Col. Spear, attempted to cross the Blackwater river yesterday, at Broadwater Bridge near Ivor. They were handsomely repulsed by a portion of General Clingman's brave North Carolina troops, and retired out of sight. Our scouts from that section, report this body of cavalry as being quite formidable in numbers—some estimating it as high as 3,600. At last accounts they were heading around towards the source of the Blackwater in Prince George, and may endeavor to effect a junction with the enemy now at City Point. We fear that the Sussex and Prince George people will suffer greatly from the depredations of these Vandals.

ADDITIONAL.

We can only refer to our telegraphic column for further and important news from Virginia. The enemy were badly damaged and driven back on Saturday, in Gen. Lee's front, while Gen. Lee assures us his loss was slight. So far the news from that quarter is indeed cheering.

The fight at Chester, half way between Petersburg and Richmond, on Saturday, was desperate, the enemy being repulsed with a loss of about one thousand killed and wounded. Butler commands this column, with his headquarters at City Point, ten miles from Petersburg, where they have entrenched. There is yet no communication with Richmond by way of Petersburg.

From North Georgia.

The enemy were advancing on Gen. Johnston, at Dalton, on Sunday, in heavy force and a general engagement was expected yesterday.

The Albemarle at Work.

Our iron-clad, Albemarle, attacked nine gunboats in Albemarle Sound, on the 6th instant, sinking one and disabling two. This is a most glorious achievement.

"In a Feverish Condition."

Is it possible? In South Carolina in a state of "feverish" excitement on account of the "usurpation of arbitrary power?" One of her leading papers says so, and we are glad to hear it, for we had thought, from the incessant cry of "patriots and property holders," that "agitation," "disaffection" and "treason" only existed in North Carolina. We, in the name of the Conservative masses, composing at least two-thirds if not three-fourths of our people, protested against placing the entire population and all they have in the hands of the military authority, and for doing so we have been denounced as untrue to the South, &c. We are as loyal to the South and the State that gave us birth as any man in the Confederacy, but as long as we wield a pen our voice shall be raised against usurpers and despots, no matter how exalted their position or how sycophantic their [illegible] supporters. If we cannot achieve our independence without submitting to a military despotism we cannot do it at all; nor is independence desirable without [illegible] Carolinian to show "that South Carolina is at this moment in a feverish condition" on account of the "usurpation of arbitrary power" [illegible]

[illegible]

Let it be done, and the sooner the better.

[illegible] Guardian.

We can tell the Guardian that the people of this State [illegible] to elect Mr. Holden their Governor in August next and thus rebuke the [illegible] of the Destructive [illegible] here and their [illegible] in other States. Mr. Holden is as loyal, as patriotic and as true to the South as any man in South Carolina, and had the leaders in that and other Cotton States had his sagacity, patriotism and devotion to country we might have been this day at peace and prosperous [illegible]. In all the [illegible] Mr. Holden [illegible] his election in August and inauguration on the 1st of January [illegible] to see the time. The people have already made up their verdict, and we know it to be largely in favor of Mr. Holden. South Carolina may sneer at our State and her leading men, but we can point with pride to our record in this war, though our people have never boasted that they brought it on.

The Attack on Newbern Abandoned.

Our attentive and intelligent correspondent, "VAN," gives us the particulars of the advance upon Newbern, the fighting between our forces and the Yankees and the abandonment of the attack. We expected no other result, as soon as we heard that active operations had commenced in Virginia, for we knew the troops would be needed elsewhere; and hence our paragraph of Saturday preparing the public mind for the abandonment. The movement against Newbern was made in good earnest, however, and would no doubt been successful had Grant delayed his advance a few days longer. But no one should complain at the failure to take Newbern, for that place would be worth but little to us should we lose Richmond; and to prevent the fall of our Capitol the attack on Newbern has been abandoned for the present. The eyes of the continent are now turned towards Richmond, where two mighty armies are engaged in deadly strife, and should we achieve a decisive, crushing victory over the immense legions the enemy have brought against us, as we trust in God we shall, we devoutly hope it may pave the way to negotiations and an honorable peace.

Prices Coming Down.

Prices in some articles of provisions have fallen in the Raleigh Market since the coming in of the new currency. Corn meal sold on Saturday at $25 to $20 per bushel, while eggs, butter, bacon, &c., have fallen from 25 to 50 per cent. The fact is Mr. Memminger's promises to pay is getting to be a scarce commodity, if we except the old issue which nobody cares for, and persons who have anything to sell must lower their figures or not sell at all

We notice, too, that prices have fallen in other places. In Charleston, butter has fallen to $8 and the supply exceeds the demand.

In Charlotte meal sells for $15 a bushel.

At Columbus, Georgia, on Friday last, Bacon sold for $2 50. Flour has declined $50 on the barrel, and $5 bills are taken at par.

In Columbia, eggs are selling at $2 and $2 50—a decrease of nearly one-half. Butter is begging at $6 and $7. Flour has slightly fallen.

Prices have generally fallen in Atlanta, so say the papers of that city.

If there is an [illegible] in the land at any price there is enough at reasonable prices, and we venture to [illegible] in the world for the [illegible] of some of our producers. We hope prices will continue to tumble until they reach a reasonable figure.

wide-spread, in this portion of the State; [illegible] passed away.

I was somewhat in error in my [illegible] of our casualties in yesterday's letter. We have some 9 or 10 killed, instead of 8 or 7 reported. One shell from the Yankee gunboats killed five of these and wounded three others. Our total loss in killed, wounded and missing will not exceed 45 or 50. This is a small list considering the perilous nature of the operations achieved. But small though it be—that loss tells upon as many mourning households, and desolated hearts, and sorrowing affections—with these brave men who perished, have gone down just so much of the love, pride, hope, ambition, virtue, and noble worth of our sore-afflicted State. Peace to the widowed hearts that mourn for the unrequited fallen! Bright be the immortality of the souls and the honors of the dead!

Among those bodies of troops which have distinguished themselves in this expedition, I may be pardoned for mentioning Col. Folk's, 6th N. C. Cavalry. Placed in the vanguard, under the eye of that valiant and trustworthy soldier, the newly made Brigadier General Dearing—commanding the cavalry of the expedition. Their regiment assailed and drove in the pickets of the enemy, and making a sudden detour, passed to the Southward in the direction of Sheppardsville; and crossing an almost impenetrable swamp of several miles in breadth, vigorously assaulted one of the enemy's strongest fortifications on the Railroad leading from Newbern; and succeeded in compelling its capitulation. The works were known as "Fort Groston," and were situated some 10 miles from the town. On driving in the outer pickets, a formal flag of truce was forwarded, demanding the surrender of the place. The officer commanding, Capt. Aigen, 5th R. I. Artillery, after endeavoring to ascertain the strength of the besieging force, declined surrendering; but added, "that he hoped if we assaulted the Fort, they would not have "Fort Pillow again!"

So the signal was given, and the regiment, (which had been partially dismounted) opened fire from their rifles and carbines, and moved on to the work amid a furious fire from the enemy's artillery and musketry. But the Yankee valor soon displayed itself in the white flag, which was run up in three minutes after fire was opened on them! The fort was ours; and the garrison, consisting of Capt. Aigen, a Lieutenant, Chaplain, and 57 privates, one splendid howitzer, an excellent lot of small arms, and a large quantity of stores awarded the victors. Two negroes and a Buffalo or so made their escape after the flag went up.

It must be a source of great satisfaction to this cavalry regiment to know that it is to their valor and daring that we owe nearly all the tangible and visible success of this ill-fated (if I can, with propriety use the word) expedition. The conduct of both men and officers is worthy of the highest commendation, and has been justly appreciated and applauded by Major Gen. Hoke and other officers here. But doubtless there were many other regiments here that would have achieved as great, if not greater and more important results, had the opportunities been offered. So my remarks relative to the 6th Cavalry, must not be considered as invidious in their character—to detract from true merit elsewhere. I have been prompted by a different cause in giving utterance to my sentiments.

First, I desire to relieve this regiment from the ban that a few envious, supercilious and pompous military up-starts and would-be have been endeavoring to place upon the command. "Render unto Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's—and honor to whom honor is due." Therefore, I would say to those detractors—those who have been the children, the pets of rank and favor and fortune during this war—look at the history of this regiment—follow its marches and campaigns over the mountains and valleys of Kentucky and Tennessee—go where, with distinction, it fired the first shots with such heroic fortitude sustaining an important position on that awful field at Chickamauga—then its long and weary marches and disasters at Philadelphia, at London and at Knoxville, Tennessee; mingled with splendid triumphs back to their native State—gaze upon their [illegible] that rest in hope on the soil of Kentucky, Tennessee and Georgia; think of the nameless graves of many who gave

[illegible]

It is worthy to remark here that the Federal [illegible] in yesterday's letter. [illegible] to surrender, they desired to know upon what terms we would allow a capitulation; as Fort Pillow was evidently in their remembrance!

[illegible] "Stars and Stripes" and "glorious Union!"

VAN.

Public Sentiment.

Extract from a letter from a well-informed and highly intelligent citizen, dated

WILSON, May 24, 1864.

"I consider Mr. Holden's election certain. Everything I can gather from various points, proves this conclusively. Indeed, some of his [illegible] enemies, in Northern Virginia, I learn, are writing home to their friends that the army vote will certainly be in his favor. [illegible]

For the Progress.

CAMP [illegible]

[illegible]

Rev. Mr. Tracy arrived last night with boxes of good things from home for the boys. Of course he was gladly welcomed back on account of his accompaniments, and his intrinsic worth and [illegible]. He and Mr. Thompson [illegible] and we would be very [illegible] for their [illegible]. Please call the attention of our next assembly to this.

We are to have a big inspection to-day by Gen. Lee's Inspector. The boys are as busy as bees burnishing up their arms and accoutrements. Weather delightful.—Health of the men good, [illegible] of the boys 110 Fahrenheit in the shade. Yours truly,

HAL.

We invite the earnest attention of our citizens to the notice of Mr. Pescud, relative to the organization of an Ambulance Committee in this city, to assist in relieving the wounded in the battles now taking place.

The Speech of Mr. Stephens

Is now ready and may be had at our counting room. Only 5,000 copies were printed and those who do not send their orders soon will be disappointed, for the edition will soon be exhausted.

NOTICE.—A full representation of delegates from the Counties of Alamance and Randolph are requested to meet at Liberty, Randolph, on Saturday the 21st of May, to put in nomination a candidate for the Senate—a Conservative "after the straitest sect"—who will advocate the principles of W. W. Holden and Governor Brown, of Georgia.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

ATTENTION! CITIZENS!

THE SUBSCRIBER HAS BEEN REPEATEDLY urged to try and establish an Ambulance Committee similar to the one organized in Richmond, who have a Committee provided with ambulances, waggons and refreshments, on the battle field, at the depots at Richmond, and also to accompany the wounded from one point to another.

All persons having waggons and teams or who feel disposed to aid in the organization will leave their names with the undersigned by Friday night, when it is proposed to hold a meeting at the Court House to adopt rules and regulations.

A large number of the wounded in the present and coming battles will be sent to this city and immediate and prompt action is demanded.

P. F. PESCUD.
